Wacky mom & dad heartbroken after junior works way through school

We're ashamed of our college graduate son!

. . . SAY HIS PUNK ROCK PARENTS

By BILL CRANE

Jack and Mary Timmons were heartbroken when their son worked his way through college and graduated with honors.

That's because the 62-year-old couple are punk rockers and wanted their son to be as shiftless and hideous as they are.

"The boy's a fool," Mrs. Timmons sneered during an interview at her home in Copenhagen, Denmark. "So what if he's got a fancy education?

"It ain't going to do him any good. All it's going to get him is a 9 to 5 job and a lot of headaches.

"He'll never be happy like we are. Sometimes I just sit here and ask myself: 'Where did we go wrong?' "

Rick Timmons, 23, couldn't disagree more. He said he loves his parents but simply can't stomach their bizarre life-style.

"I want to work. I want money and a good job," said the clean-cut young man, who earned his degree in economics from Austria's prestigious University of Vienna.

"Where did we go wrong?"

"Mom and Dad don't like it but there comes a time when you have to leave the nest and do your own thing. I worked my way through one of the best colleges in the world over their objections.

"Now that I've graduated I'm going to get a banking job — and they don't like that either." The Timmons couple have always been offbeat but didn't embrace the punk life-style until 1984.

They quit their regular jobs and bought a small bar and music club where punk bands play their maniacal music every night of the week.

Young Timmons said his parents offered to give him a share of the club if he stayed out of college and went to work tending bar.

But he went to school anyway — and graduated with honors in December.

DOING his own thing! Rick Timmons, center, says he wants to be a banker, whether punk rock parents Jack and Mary like it or not.

CRASH! Rookie cop gets off to rough start

A rookie cop got off to a rough start his first day on the job when he crashed head-on into another car right in front of the police station!

Officer John Mattiace, was turning left into the police station's driveway in Allendale, N.J., when he collided with an oncoming car. Apparently, he didn't see the car because a tractor-trailer making a wide right turn in front of him blocked his vision.

Mattiace and the three people in the other car were injured in the crash but none seriously.

No charges were filed against Officer Mattiace following a police investigation.

WIVES WANTED

RANCHER Drake Dixon met his wife Kathleen through an ad he placed with a singles club that helps lonely farmers find romance.

By SUSAN JIMISON
Staff writer

Thousands of rugged outdoor guys all over America are searching for a loving woman to settle down with — and you can make one your hubby if you know how!

Men like rancher Drake Dixon, 37, owner of a 2,400-acre spread near Lakeview, Oreg., are pining away for wives. They complain that they can't find gals who want to live way out in the country and work with them side by side.

This woman found herself a handsome farmer hubby — and so can you!

Dixon was so desperate for a bride he joined a special singles club for country folk — and within weeks, divorcee Kathleen Dixon, snapped him up. Now he's happily married and the father of two adorable stepchildren.

"I saw his picture, I called him and he said, 'Come on down and visit,'" recalled Kathleen, 27, who used to live in Portland, Oreg. "He's real easy-going, real nice. I feel like I came home."

You can boost your chances of catching a dream guy like Kathleen did by joining Singles in Agriculture.

The club, formed a few years ago, has nearly a thousand members so far.

The male and female members range in age from 20 to 70 and already 75 couples have met and married through the club.

"You don't meet too many women out in the cornfields," said another spouse-hunting club member, 42-year-old farmer Randy Coleman of McMinnville, Oreg. He says meeting gals in the small towns and scattered farmhouses in his area is difficult.

What's more, lots of women don't want to stay down on the farm anymore, so it's hard to find a sweetheart who wants to marry a country man.

If you're looking for rural romance, too, contact Singles in Agriculture, 5297 II Rt. 73 S., Pearl City, Ill. 61062.

Sore loser swallows chess piece — and chokes to death!

BAD MOVE: A chess player

By DAN SHOOK
In Moscow

A temperamental Soviet chess champion choked to death on an opponent's queen after he angrily snatched it off the board and popped it in his mouth!

The 3½-inch chess piece got stuck in Boris Ustinov's throat. By the time a spectator wrenched it out, the 26-year-old man was dead.

"Boris couldn't tolerate defeat and this is the result," Leonid Nikanov, Ustinov's opponent in the Moscow match, told the Soviet news agency Tass.

"When I used my queen to secure checkmate he got red in the face. The snatched my queen off the board and literally threw it into his mouth.

"For an instant he looked shocked, like he had done something terribly wrong.

"Then he clutched his throat and fell off the side of his chair.

"I didn't know what to think. He turned red and blue and was choking and gagging.

"The next thing I know he was dead."

Authorities confirmed that Nikanov's queen and went on to say that he will be sorely missed by chess players around the world.

"It's sad," said one official.

"Ustinov could have developed into one of the great chess players in the world."

Snoring remedy kills sleeping man!

Snorer Jack Trent suffocated in bed after he roped a pillow to his face so his new wife could get a good night's sleep!

"It isn't fair," said Nellie Trent of Freeport, Bahamas. "Jack had no control over his snoring but he felt tremendous guilt because he kept me awake.

"We tried sleeping in separate rooms but the noise still bothered me. After two months of marriage he reached the end of his rope.

"He tied a pillow to his face to muffle the snores and it really seemed to work. But in the morning he was dead." Authorities confirmed that Trent suffocated because he tied the pillow to his face too tightly. They also questioned Mrs. Trent about her husband's death before ruling that it was an accident.

"I understand that Mr. Trent sounded like a locomotive but no amount of snoring can justify a man's death," said one officer.

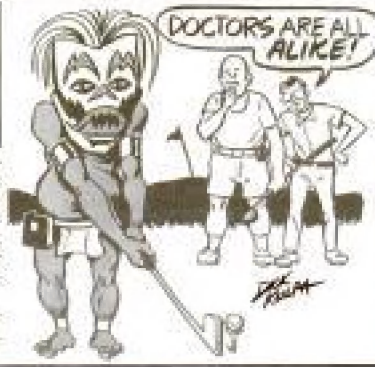
"I don't know what else to say. It's just a tragic, tragic case."

WITCH DOCTORS STRIKE IT RICH!

Wily African witch doctors are bilking big-shot oilmen out of incredible fortunes — with the help of make-believe black magic!

Officials say witch docs and sorcerers have flocked to the oil-rich Persian Gulf, where they persuade moneybags natives they can cure their ills with mysterious chants and potions. Cops recently arrested two witch doctors and an Indian sorceress in the United Arab Emirates, but officials say many others are still at work — treating the locals for everything from bunions to broken bones to bad breath.

"They're here because we're making them rich," one official said.



Lucky timing

A National Guard recruiter barely escaped death when a tire flew off a passing car, crashed through her office window — and landed right in her chair!

Fortunately, Staff Sgt. Christine Long was away at the rifle range when the tire hurtled into her office.

"The cops said I would have been a goner if I were sitting at my desk," she told reporters in Mesa, Ariz.

Witnesses said the right rear wheel snapped off a woman's car and bounced through a parking lot before smashing into Christine's office.

the medical miracle of the 1990s

birth to dead baby

By SUSAN JIMISON
Staff writer

Young mom Debora Jennings was dead when she gave birth to her baby and minutes later the infant died, too — but incredibly, both of them are alive today and doing great!

The pair were revived by skilled doctors and after just a week in the hospital, mother and child went home to Union, S.C.

. . . then docs bring them back to life!

Doctors say they are suffering no ill effects from their amazing ordeal.

"We both died and we both recovered," said Debora, 22, a diabetic.

"It was a miracle.

"My baby Billy is big and healthy. He just about cost me my life, but it was worth it."

Because Debora suffers from a severe form of diabetes, doctors advised her never to have a pregnancy.

When she found out she was expecting a baby, her physician recommended an abortion, but Debora refused.

Although she knew she might not survive her pregnancy because of complications of her diabetes, the brave young mom carried her baby to term.

During delivery the crisis came.

"I was sick the whole nine months," Debora recalled.

"I was vomiting and passing out — one thing after another.

"Then, while I was in labor things got really bad. I was lucky to have made it, I really was."

Debora suffered an emergency during labor in which one of her blood vessels became blocked.

She began having trouble breathing and in a matter of moments her heart stopped beating.

As frantic doctors rushed her into emergency surgery, they kept up steady resuscitation efforts. But they did it for her baby, not for Debora, whom they thought was already dead.

"Her heart stopped for four minutes and most of us were convinced she was dead," said Dr. Nguyen Giep, who performed a cesarean on the dying mom.

"When I cut the skin for the C-section, there was no bleeding at all.

"We were just hurrying to get the baby out.

"As we were closing her up, her heartbeat came back, but she was in a coma. We thought she was dying."

Meanwhile, little Billy was limp and blue. He, too, was dead.

After five minutes of CPR, however, the baby came around and began to cry. Within seconds he was pink and healthy.

For several days, Debora remained in a coma.

Then she slowly regained consciousness.

"I told her, 'Debora, you have a baby,'" Dr. Giep recalled. "She said, 'I do?' I said, 'Do you want to see a picture of your baby?' and she said yes.

"When I showed it to her, she cried. I sent her and her baby home two days later.

"We think it's a miracle she and the baby are alive. A lot of it was God's work. Miracles like that don't happen every day."

Happy men don't cheat on their mates

Men will be just as faithful as women — as long as they are happy in their relationships, reveals a leading psychiatrist.

"It certainly is true that while a man is looking around, he'll have a great sexual appe-once he meets that certain woman, then that's it. That's all he thinks about and all he fantasizes about is that one woman," said Dr. Helen Kaplan.

"Once men are connected in a solid relationship they usually are not interested in any other women. Men who are in Kaplan bases her conclusions on her own studies and on counseling sessions conducted with hundreds of couples.

"For women who have fears that their husband is going to stray, the best thing is to work at keeping the marriage happy.

Sign of the times

So many couples were closing off this East River pier so they could get married with the Manhattan skyline in the background that New York officials put up a sign outlawing weddings and receptions. "We just want to make sure the public is not denied access," said a spokesman.

Ulcer cure found

A leading doctor has found a cure for ulcers!

Dr. Tom Borody, director of the Center for Digestive Diseases, said that a mixture of antibiotics and bismuth cured better than 90 percent of duodenal ulcers in patients who remained ulcer-free — even after four years.

"I am quite satisfied that it's a cure for duodenal ulcer," said Dr. Borody of Sydney, Australia.

"If you'd asked me about it just three to four years ago, I know. But now, yes, it's a cure."

It is not clear when the ulcer cure will be available in the United States.

Patients should consult their doctors for details.

Poodle squashed flatter than a pancake — in trash compactor!

A prize-winning poodle was squashed like a bug when he playfully jumped into a kitchen trash compactor — and a 2-year-old boy turned it on!

By the time Sarah Burgess turned the machine off and got the dog out he was no bigger than a cigarette pack and just as flat.

The woman's toddler son Benjamin didn't realize that the dog, named Pookie, had breathed his last. He innocently told his shaken mother: "Pookie all right. Give Pookie bone. He come back."

"I was in shock," said Mrs. Burgess of Atlanta, Ga. "Pookie came from a champion bloodline and had won awards in several shows.

"When I saw what happened to him I couldn't believe my eyes. Benjamin didn't realize what he had done. He kept patting what was left of Pookie on the back."

The dog-flattening drama unfolded while Mrs. Burgess was using the telephone in her kitchen. Her son and the poodle were playing on the floor.

Mrs. Burgess recalls seeing the dog jump into the open trash compactor, causing the door to close automatically.

"Benjamin jumped up and waddled straight for the switch," she said. "I screamed for him to leave it alone but he pushed it.

"By the time I got to the compactor it was too late.

"What happened to Pookie was a tragedy," she said. "But it could have been worse. That could have been Benjamin in there."

Trucker tracks down men who gang-raped his wife

A tough trucker took to the streets for two months and tracked down one of three punks who he says gang-raped his wife — and he's still stalking the other two.

"They better hope the cops get to them before I do," said the burly husband. "I'm not going to feel good until they're locked up or dead."

The raging hubby searched day and night for the suspects who assaulted his wife while holding his two kids and two aged neighbors at gunpoint in their Chicago apartment.

Police wouldn't identify the determined trucker to protect the identity of a rape victim. But they admitted that without his help, they might not have arrested a suspect.

"He hit the streets every day and talked to people," said Assistant State Attorney Mary Moore. "He went to some very dangerous parts of the city. He could have been killed.

"He found out the suspects' names and nicknames within days, turned the names over to police and then started his own hunt," said Atty. Moore.

The fearless hubby said he felt bad that he wasn't home when the three crooks fired a shot through their apartment door and forced their way in. His two kids, 9 and 13, were home alone.

The assailants said they were looking for drugs. They took the children to a neighbor's apartment.

When the trucker's wife came home, the three scumbags raped her.

Because of the husband's tireless efforts, a grand jury has indicted Lavelle Cooperwood, 17, in the attack.

"It's a good feeling to get one of them, but I'm not going to be satisfied until we get the other two," said the trucker.

How does your marriage rate?

Take this revealing test — and find out

By SUSAN JIMISON
Staff writer

How's your marriage doing? If you really want to find out, take this quiz and see how yours rates.

Designed by Florida psychiatrist Dr. Frank Caprio, the simple test reveals how well you and your mate communicate with one another.

"Communication with kindness is the best path to happiness in marriage," said Dr. Caprio. "It's very important to sit down with your spouse and take stock of your marriage. If more people took this approach and talked over their problems, there would be fewer divorces."

When you take the quiz below, answer as honestly as possible.

1. Your anniversary is coming up in a few weeks. It is very important to you. You:

a. Say nothing, and wait for your spouse to throw you a surprise party.

b. Make sure your spouse knows what you want to do and give him a list of presents you would like.

c. Mention casually how much you are looking forward to it, and plan a nice surprise for your spouse.

2. Your husband gives you an expensive blouse for your birthday. You can't stand the color. You:

a. Thank him and wear it often.

b. Thank him and put it at the back of your closet.

c. Thank him but explain the color doesn't suit your wardrobe and exchange it.

3. Your husband buys himself a tie that you hate. You:

a. Ask him never to wear it.

b. Complain whenever he wears it.

c. Tell him your feelings, but let him make up his own mind.

4. You and your husband want to go out in the evening, but you want to see a movie, and he wants to go bowling.

a. One of you (the same one every time) gives in.

b. You flip a coin to decide.

c. The one who feels most strongly makes the choice, with the understanding that the other chooses next time.

5. You usually take care of the housework, but you have been especially busy lately. Your husband:

a. Expects you to manage.

b. Says he understands but complains.

c. Discusses it with you and pitches in to help.

6. You and your husband attend a large cocktail party. You:

a. Chat with everyone there, and don't see your husband until the party breaks up.

b. Stick to your husband's side all evening.

c. Mingle with your friends, but check in with your husband once in a while.

7. Your husband is the "breadwinner" for the family.

a. He gives you a set amount each week that you must manage on.

b. He gives you whatever money you need for household and personal expenses.

c. You and your husband have discussed your finances and arrived at a budget that suits you both.

8. When you and your husband have some time alone together, you usually:

a. Watch television.

b. Play cards.

c. Relax together by catching up on each other's news.

9. When you are at a friend's house for dinner, your husband tells a joke you find offensive. You:

a. Don't say a word, and never bring it up later.

b. Interrupt him and state your views.

c. Wait until you are alone and discuss your objections with him calmly.

10. You hear some wonderful news. Your first impulse is to:

a. Call your mother and tell her.

b. Call your best friend and tell her.

c. Call your husband and tell him.

11. You like to spend an occasional night out with "the girls." When this happens your husband usually:

a. Kicks up a fuss until you change your mind.

b. Sulks at home.

c. Thinks it's a good idea, and spends the evening with his pals.

12. When you and your husband are having a conversation:

a. He interrupts you often.

b. You interrupt him often.

c. You listen attentively to what the other has to say before responding.

13. You are annoyed with your husband about a small matter. You:

a. Don't say anything to him about it and stew silently.

b. Don't say anything at the time, but bring it up during an argument later.

c. Mention it calmly as soon as you can.

SCORING

Give yourself 1 point for each of these correct answers: 1C, 2C, 3C, 4C, 5C, 6C, 7C, 8C, 9C, 10C, 11C, 12C, 13C.

Give yourself one point for every correct answer and discuss the results with your spouse.

A score of 13 indicates you have a happy marriage, a score of 10 shows that your marriage is successful even though you don't always agree.

A score of 8 points means that you have pronounced differences, but enjoy a good marital relationship in spite of them.

If you score 5 points or lower, you can strengthen your marriage by working with your husband or wife to iron out your incompatibilities.

Victim outsmarts dumb robber — he buys the crook's guns!

By SUSAN JIMISON
Staff writer

A coolheaded convenience store clerk knew just what to do when a bandit pointed two loaded pistols at him — he bought the punk's guns!

Then he makes the punk give back his money!

Then he pointed the guns at his dim-witted assailant and made him give back the money before he made his getaway.

"It was the miracle of my life, really," said the clever clerk, Wasir Jiwa, 32.

"I was scared. I feel I am lucky. This was the first time I've ever been robbed and I don't know what made me think of buying the guy's weapons."

The incredibly dumb doings took place at Best Food Market in Houston, Tex.

Jiwa was doing his accounts when a young black man entered his store, took a quart of beer out of the cooler and brought it to the counter. When Jiwa asked him to pay, the retarded robber pulled two pistols out of his pockets and said, "Give me all of your money."

"I said, 'I'll help you if you need money — but why do you have two guns? You need two guns?' " recalled Jiwa. "I said, 'You don't need two guns. One gun is enough to rob someone,' and he said, 'Well, I'm scared. That's why I bring two guns.'

"While we were talking I pushed a button under my counter that locked the doors at the front of the store. Then I said, 'I need a gun. I'll give you good money because I need it for my protection.' He said, 'How much?' and I told him $100."

Incredibly the crack-brained crook gave Jiwa his gun and pocketed the cash. Then Jiwa offered to buy his other gun.

"He said, 'You're trying to cheat me,' " Jiwa recalled. "So I told him, 'No, but you could get $100 for the other one and then have $200.' "

The robber, in his 20s, handed over the other gun, snapped up the money and headed for the door. But when he tried to get out, he found to his stunned disbelief that he was locked in!

"I said, 'Where are you going? We're not finished yet. You have to come back and give me my money.' I had the guns on him and I said, 'Give me my money or I'll shoot you,' and he gave the money back."

Jiwa says he then opened the door and the humbling bandit took off down the street.

Cops are still looking for the robber.

James Dean is ALIVE

THIS portrait of James Dean at 59 is based on eyewitness descriptions.

— and there's a good chance he'll make one more movie!

Hollywood hellion James Dean survived the high-speed car crash that supposedly snuffed out his life 25 years ago — and the brooding superstar is alive and well today!

What's more, there's a 50-50 chance Dean will come out of hiding later this year to make one more movie.

That mind-boggling disclosure was made by famed South American filmmaker Lauro Duarte, who says he visited with the Rebel Without a Cause star on a little farm outside Recife, Brazil, on January 25.

"He tends his animals and hangs out with a handful of buddies, playing cards and passing around a rum bottle all day," the documentary maker told The NEWS. "He has a few chickens, a few goats and one cow.

"He seems very happy. He says this is the kind of life he always wanted to lead."

Duarte said the former teen idol faked his own death in the crash of his silver Porsche Spyder in 1955 so he could escape the mounting pressures of Hollywood.

DEAN, who loved cars in his younger days, still gets his kicks at the races.

SCENE from Rebel Without a Cause reflects how Dean felt Hollywood was tearing him apart. He prefers the quiet life on his farm.

"He wanted out," the producer said. "He thought he was expected to maintain the image of a fast-living playboy, and what he really wanted to do was settle down on a farm. He bought a little place out there in the country just after his 'death,' and he's been living there ever since. He says he works as a mechanic at the auto races sometimes, and that's all he ever does for excitement."

Duarte located Dean, now 59, after a woman who used to work on Dean's farm tipped him off that the Tinseltown hero was alive and raising chickens in Recife.

"He seemed surprised that I found him and knew who he was, but he didn't really seem to mind," the filmmaker said. "I've been trying to persuade him to come out of retirement, and I think I almost have him convinced to do one more movie.

"What a sensation that's going to be!" — Special to Weekly World News.

Proud pop Sly Stallone has his 13-year-old son Sage debuting as Rocky Jr. in his upcoming Rocky V.

Pop princess Janet Jackson — she's the unweird one — worked so hard on her new dance video that it nearly killed her.

Frantic Janet, 23, collapsed from dehydration and had to be rushed to a hospital during the filming of her movie-length spectacular called Rhythm Nation.

"I couldn't stop shaking," recalled megastar Mike's kid sister. "My body fluids were really low.

"They put 2½ quarts back into me, so I got to the hospital in the nick of time."— London Daily Star.

Elusive David Bowie has decided he'd rather hit the road than get hitched.

The reluctant rocker was supposed to wed his ballet star-ladylove Melissa Hurley early this year.

But now desperate Davie says he doesn't have time to tie the knot because he's heading off on a six-month concert tour.

This is the same David Bowie who vowed never to tour again back in 1987. "I've had enough of big tours, the entourage, the hassles, and the sheer size of them," the Brit bomber said back then.

Apparently, all that doesn't look so bad compared to a life sentence. — London Daily Star.

A bald car salesman couldn't afford to pay a doctor for hair transplants so he performed the operation on himself.

The plugs of hair that 43-year-old Rick Debrincat transferred from his armpits to his head are spotty but he likes the look and says they're still growing strong six months later.

Doctors warn that the man could have killed himself and say that NOBODY under ANY circumstances should try to duplicate the procedure themselves.

By DANNY MAY

"The new hair doesn't match the hair on the sides of my head, but it's better than nothing," said Debrincat of Charlotte, N.C. "Look, I was bald for 17 years and hated every minute of it. My new hair may not be perfect. But I can live with it."

Debrincat's mind-blowing decision to give himself hair transplants came after cosmetic surgeons quoted him prices ranging from $14,000 to $22,000 to do the job themselves.

Debrincat didn't have that kind of money. So he read a doctor's brochure on hair transplantation and went to work himself.

"You're supposed to cut small plugs of hair from the sides of your head to put on your bald spot but I couldn't reach very well so I took the hair from my armpits," said Debrincat.

"I used small scissors and I don't mind telling you it hurt like hell. I'd cut a plug out of my scalp and throw the skin in the trash.

"Then I'd take a plug of hair from my armpit, mash it into the depression in my scalp and cover it with a strip of tape.

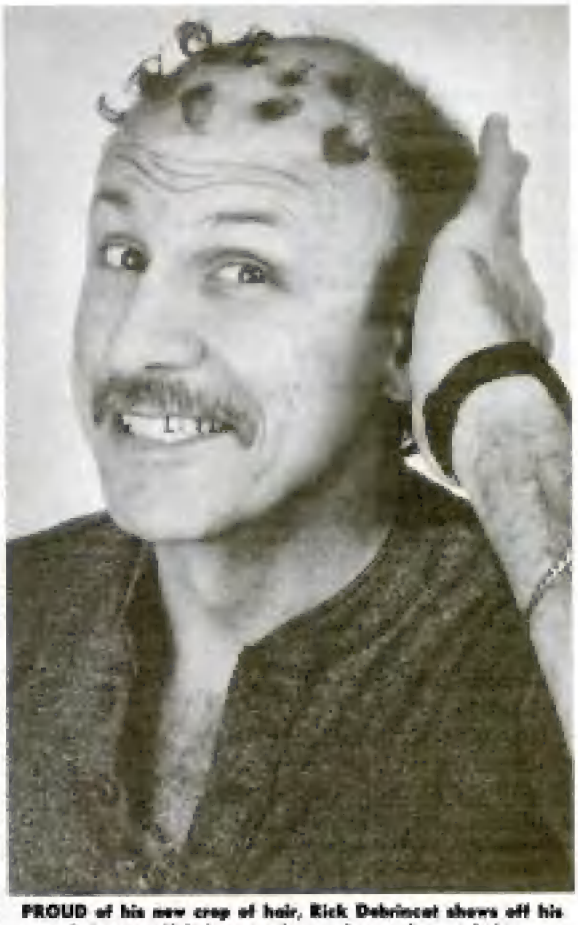
"It took almost six weeks to do the job but it was worth every agonizing minute. I didn't think I'd ever have hair

B. Kruger said Debrincat "was a fool" to give himself hair transplants and is lucky he wasn't severely infected.

"He's a very lucky man," said Dr. Kruger. "He performed a serious and potentially dangerous operation on himself under extremely unsanitary conditions.

"He played Russian roulette and luckily, he won. But I strongly advise anyone else considering such a thing to forget it.

"Only doctors are qualified to perform this type of operation."



PROUD of his new crop of hair, Rick Debrincat shows off his new do-it-yourself hair transplant using underarm hair.

We treat animals better than folks

Americans are bonkers over their pets and often treat them better than people, a new survey shows.

In a survey of 10,500 households, pet owners revealed a number of bizarre aspects of their life with their pooches and kitties, among them the following:

- 95 percent believe their pets can read their moods.
- 91 percent talk baby talk to their pets and buy them holiday gifts.
- 88 percent believe their pets understand English.
- 14 percent send their pets postcards when they're on shots of their furry friends.

- 57 percent have conversations with their pets on the telephone.

Shoppers' illness blamed on lights

At least six people have suffered first-time seizures at an Ohio shopping mall — and doctors say the mall's flashing lights may be to blame.

Experts say strobe lights, video games and other rapidly blinking lights have been known to trigger seizures in both epileptics and people without epilepsy.

Five of those who suffered seizures at the suburban Cincinnati mall were children who were watching flashing lights near the center's movie theater or playing video games, officials said.

NITWIT SCHOOL BOSS GIVES THIRD GRADER THE BOOT!

MOM Melissa Woodfin with her daughter Haley and a can of Billy Beer. Inset photo: President Carter's late brother Billy.

I got so mad after reading a news clipping about the little girl who was kicked out of school for bringing a can of Billy Beer to a classroom show-and-tell that I chewed up the story and swallowed it!

Haley Woodfin is 8 years old and a third grader at Skipwith Elementary in Richmond, Va.

She took an unopened can of the beer from a display cabinet in her home. Billy Beer was named for President Carter's late brother and it's no longer made, so unopened cans are worth money as collector's items.

When Haley pulled out the beer for her classmates to see, stupid school bigwigs pitched a hissy fit and even called the cops on the little girl for possession of alcohol, for crying out loud.

Then the school's nitwit boss gave her the boot for three days.

"I am furious," said her mom Melissa Woodfin. And so am I, by God. Crack-smoking druggies are crawling around America's schools like cockroaches and we bust some little kid for showing off a can of Billy Beer.

That's gotta be the stupidest darn thing I've ever heard of.

If good old boy Billy Carter was alive, you can bet he'd be raising hell over this. The most famous redneck and beer drinker of our time wouldn't think twice about burping in those eggheads' faces over this one.

Chief nerd and school superintendent Will Bosher Jr. said, "We want to help young people understand that alcohol and drugs are not appropriate."

Now what kind of mealy-mouth bullcrap is that? Does this nincompoop really think that looking at a can of Billy Beer is going to turn third graders into a bunch of winos?

Let's face it. If those school bigwigs had their way, they'd stick little Haley in the Betty Ford Alcohol Center to dry her out! At taxpayers' expense, of course!

A young deaf couple, who had shared a dream of building a happy life together since childhood, are struggling to put their shattered lives back together — and forget the night of horror a knife-wielding punk brought to their silent world!

Lonny and LeAnn Dean, both 25 and deaf since birth, were savagely attacked by a cold-blooded intruder who broke into their home in the dead of night.

Lonny was sound asleep with LeAnn cuddled up beside plunged a steak knife completely through his throat.

When the attacker finally fled, he left Lonny crumpled in a pool of blood, near death with eight stab wounds in his throat, chest and stomach. LeAnn had been stabbed in the chin.

who stemmed the flow of blood from Dean's punctured throat, Lonny would be dead now.

Though doctors say he will make a full recovery, the mental wounds he and LeAnn suffered that terrible night may never heal.

Lonny and LeAnn were married two years ago, exchanging their vows in Sign, the hand language of the deaf. And they were doing just fine . . . until a mindless creep with a knife slashed his way into their silent world of happiness.

After pilot topples out . . .

Kid brings down runaway balloon — all by himself!

By DICK DONOVAN
Staff writer

Cool-headed schoolboy Alex Nicholos somehow found the courage to fly and then land a runaway hot-air balloon all by himself — after the pilot was thrown out of the gondola!

The gutsy 11-year-old-boy, who had never before been in a balloon, flew the craft for 90 minutes with directions given to him on a CB radio by a skilled pilot following in a car 2,000 feet below.

Amazingly, the Colorado youngster managed to land the balloon so perfectly that he was able to walk away without a scratch.

"It was scary, very scary," the young hero told The NEWS. "I didn't know the pilot had been thrown out until I looked around and saw he wasn't with me.

"I was afraid at first. But then I just said, 'Well, I'm the pilot now and I'll have to get it back on the ground myself.' And I did."

Alex's harrowing adventure started innocently enough when family friend and seasoned balloonist Tex Houston offered to give him a ride.

The balloon lifted off from outside Colorado Springs as Alex's parents, George and Linda, and sister Stephanie watched from a car that would follow the flight.

Fortunately, Houston had asked highly skilled balloon teacher Dave Hollenbaugh to accompany the family in the chase car. Had he not been on hand, Alex's flight probably would have ended in tragedy.

Not long after the balloon went aloft, the winds picked up and Houston decided to tipped over and pitched Houston out.

Then the seven-story-tall balloon went airborne again — this time without a pilot!

"All of us panicked," said George Nicholos. "While we followed in the car, I alternated between thinking positive and thinking the worst.

"We were all a wreck. We were all crying and wailing. But Dave was very calm and collected. Luckily, we had a CB radio in the car and another in the gondola and Dave was telling Alex what to do."

For the next 90 terrifying minutes Alex followed Dave's instructions to the letter as the balloon traveled 25 miles cross-country, sometimes as low as 200 feet, at other times as high as 2,000 feet.

Alex slowly released the hot air trapped in the balloon. Gradually, the towering craft descended to the ground.

"I was real happy it was over, but I want to go up again. I want to take lessons."

Well, the lessons will have to wait until Alex is 15. In the meantime, he'll have to endure the hero worship he's getting from his fifth-grade BALLOON drifted for 90 minutes as boy's terrified parents and his sister followed in a car — 2,000 feet below.

Sign saves granny's life

A 94-year-old woman may have died from a fall in her apartment if not for the "I'm O.K." program of the American Red Cross.

Loretta O'Keefe fell in the kitchen of her Hamburg, N.Y., apartment and couldn't get up. She lay helpless on the floor all night.

When Red Cross volunteer Jeannette Tabaczynski didn't see an "I'm O.K." sign on the old woman's door the next morning, she notified the building manager.

They found Mrs. O'Keefe lying on the floor and took her to a hospital.

Under the Red Cross program, residents place the "I'm O.K." sign on their door each morning. If it isn't there, the monitor checks to see if all is well.

Astrology tips FOR WOMEN ONLY!

How you can tell a man's birth sign

— just by looking at him!

You don't have to know a man's birthday to know what sign of the zodiac he was born under. You can tell just by looking at him.

That's what some of the world's top astrologists say.

No matter how unique a man may be, he will have certain characteristics common to all those born under his sign of the zodiac. Here is how to identify the characteristics of men under each sign:

ARIES (March 21-April 19). The typical Aries man is under six feet tall and slight of build, with small feet and wrists and well-shaped fingers. He has an open face and a clear expression. Dudley Moore and Omar Sharif are good examples. Some Aries men, like Marlon Brando and William Shatner, will tend to be heavier than other men born under this sign, depending upon the time of day they were born.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). There are two types of men under this sign. One type is tall and sometimes sullen, smiles seldom and speaks slowly, tending to talk around a subject — like Ryan O'Neal, Jimmy Stewart and Lee Majors. The other Taurus type tends to be short and heavy, a lover of rich foods who likes to talk about his possessions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). A man who is never still, moving all over the place and talking to every girl in sight is bound to be a Gemini. Usually he's blond with a light complexion. He'll talk about mechanical things or some clever things he's done.

And a Gemini somehow manages to stay young-looking. Pat Boone is typical, and so are Gary "Radar" Burghoff, Bruce Dern and Rich Little.

CANCER (June 22-July 21). It's easy to spot a Cancerian. He's the man with the round face, wearing a somewhat sullen and annoyed expression. But he likes to put on an act and be funny — a natural clown.

And they tend to be on the stocky side. Good examples are Bill Cosby, Sylvester Stallone, Boy George and the late Yul Brynner.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 21). You'll spot a Leo by the way he walks — with importance, authority and regal bearing. If the event is formal, he'll be dressed like a king. It it's informal, he'll be the most casually dressed man there. He likes to arrive late and make a grand entrance. Robert Redford and Carroll O'Connor are Leos.

A SAGITTARIAN like Frank Sinatra will look you in the eye and you'll have no doubt just what he's talking about.

VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 22). A rather tall man who dresses meticulously but casually and has a certain shyness about him is probably a Virgo. If he seems to hold back critical thoughts when you talk to him, that clinches it — he's a Virgo. Examples are Larry Hagman and John Ritter.

AQUARIANS like Burt Reynolds are interested in people.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22). The Libra man is also tall, but heavier than Virgo. He loves good food and wine. He's an elegant dresser with a rather light complexion. He likes to talk about business, his plans for success and his children. Walter Matthau, Robert Blake and George C. Scott are typical Libras.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21). Dark, piercing eyes and a heavy beard are the clues to a Scorpio man. He looks rough and ready and gives an impression of hidden power. He has a natural inclination to be somewhat bawdy at times and he prefers emotional women. Examples: Henry Winkler and Ed Asner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You'll recognize a Sagittarian the minute you talk with him. He'll look you right in the eye, so you'll have no doubt he knows just what he's talking about. And if he tells you off, you'll know it! His face may be long and lean. Typical Sagittarians are Ricardo Montalban, Phil Donahue, brothers Beau and Jeff Bridges and Frank Sinatra.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20). If you meet a man who's physically and mentally restless, there's a good chance he's a Capricorn. If he uses his hands for emphasis and his talk centers on organization and planning, chances are he's a Capricorn. He speaks firmly but diplomatically. Typical Capricorns are Lloyd Bridges, Kevin Costner and Mel Gibson.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19). His interest in people is the surest way to identify an Aquarian. He'll ask you so many questions about yourself that you'll think he's being nosey, but that's just his way.

TYPICAL Gemini Pat Boone still looks young enough to be a Boy Scout.

He'll go along with almost anything that's new and unorthodox — and it shows in his appearance, too. Typical Aquarians are Burt Reynolds, Alan Alda, Tom Selleck and Paul Newman.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20). Pisceans are the hardest to identify — but their eyes, chins and feet are good clues. His eyes will seem far away, as if he's thinking of someone or something else, yet they'll have a magnetic quality about them. The chin will tend to be small, while the feet will tend to be large.

Gavin MacLeod, Patrick Duffy, Phil Collins and Bruce Willis are all Pisces.

PISCES like Bruce Willis are among the hardest to identify but their eyes are a good clue.

My pig of a roommate is turning our place into a sty

Dear Dotti: My college roommate is a pig. She passes gas without warning me in advance. She spits in her coffee. And worst of all, she leaves her toenail clippings in little piles all over the room.

I can put up with her first two bad habits. But those clippings really get to me. What can I do? — Fed Up in Milwaukee

Dear Fed: Put a spoonful of toenail clippings in her morning coffee. If that doesn't get the message across, nothing will.

Dotti, what's your dumbest mistake?

Dear Dotti: What's the stupidest thing you've ever done? — Curious in New York

Dear Curious: Opened your letter.

Snooty salesclerk treated me like dirt

Dear Dotti: The other day I went to a department store to buy some perfume and the saleslerk was the biggest jerk I've ever seen. I was the only person she had to wait on but she made me stand there 15 minutes while she gabbed to one of her friends on the phone.

The girl couldn't have been more than 16 years old and she was dressed like a New York hooker. When she finally got around to ringing up my purchase she snatched the perfume from me like I was a shoplifter, jammed it in a bag and dropped it on the counter.

What gives, Dotti? I remember when all working people took pride in their jobs and themselves. It's just not that way anymore, is it? — Fuming in Miami

Dear Fuming: If big department stores paid a decent wage, they could get decent people to work for them. As it stands, the only workers they attract are gum-popping teenyboppers without a brain in their heads. That's why I buy just about everything at mom-and-pop shops. The owners value customers and treat them like royalty because they NEED the business!

I'm crazy about a married man

Dear Dotti: I'm madly in love with a married man and it's driving me crazy. I fantasize about him all the time and have even been thinking about asking him to my apartment for dinner. He doesn't know I love him but I don't know how much longer I can keep quiet. Please help, Dotti. I'm not a tramp. And I don't want to break up his marriage. — Love-struck in Orlando

Dear Love-struck: Call the man's wife and tell her exactly what you told me. Once you've spilled the beans you won't be able to ask her hubby out. By the way, you must be a very fine lady. A floozy wouldn't think twice about breaking a marriage apart!

I'm afraid my son's a fruit

Dear Dotti: My 42-year-old son denies it, but I think he's gay. He won't have anything to do with women and is always in the company of attractive young men.

They are extremely effeminate and so is he. The very idea of my boy being homosexual makes me sick to my stomach. I'm also worried that he'll catch AIDS and give it to me.

How can I get him to fess up and tell me the truth, Dotti? If he is gay, I'll disown him. — Worried in North Dakota

Dear Worried: Your son is obviously gay and you have nothing to gain by making him admit it.

If I were you, I'd stop worrying about him and get on with my own life.

Love your son for what he is or forget him. If you follow my advice, you'll be happier and so will he.

Dotti will answer your letters — and tell it like it is. Just write to her, c/o Weekly World News, 600 South East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462.

Confidential

Dear Peggy in Trenton: Nobody likes a foul-mouthed woman — not even a foul-mouthed man!

Dear Curious in San Antonio: It's really none of your business, but I first dated when I was 13.

Dear Poopsie in Oklahoma City: If you love the guy, tell him so. What's he supposed to do, read your mind?

Dear Disappointed in Durham: It needs batteries, you dolt!

Dear Proud Dude in Las Vegas: Now that's a whopper!

Dear Kennie in Frisco: If you're so smart, what are you doing in jail?

Dear Fed Up in Columbia: Of course you can save your marriage. But why would you want to?

Ask the Countess

Will I ever be pretty and popular?

Dear Countess: Everybody in school makes fun of me because I'm fat and ugly. Will I ever lose weight or be pretty? Will I ever have a boyfriend? I'm 10 years old. — Depressed in West Virginia

Dear Depressed: You most definitely will! My crystal ball has shown me the slim and gorgeous young lady you will become as your body matures. Meanwhile I want you to focus not on your looks, but on your education and character. After all, you'll want a strong mind and sound values to go with the beautiful looks to come!

Dear Countess: This may sound silly, but I'm having trouble with my clarinet. I [illegible] teacher is steaming mad at me. All the other band members know the notes — so why don't I? — Stumped in N.Y.

Dear Stumped: You are musically inclined but have chosen clarinet is not for you. You should focus on singing if you truly want to shine.

Dear Countess: I was born Jan. 19, 1951, at 11:45 p.m. — sign of Capricorn ends and the sign of Aquarius begins.

Because I was born between signs I have always wondered whether I am a Capricorn or an Aquarian or both.

Can you help? — Wondering in Reno

Dear Wondering: You are primarily a Capricorn but also have strong Aquarian qualities. When reading horoscopes consult Capricorn first. Then scan Aquarius for more insight.

Dear Countess: I desperately want to have a baby but I can't get pregnant no matter how hard my husband and I try. Please, please help me, Countess. Will I ever have a baby? — Fretting in Kansas daughter will be conceived in April.

She'll be healthy, happy, smart and witty — just like her mother and daddy!

CRIPPLE Grayford Mesick was knocked 50 feet by an Amtrak passenger train.

Speeding train slams into wheelchair cripple stuck in tracks!

A train barreling along the track at better than 100 m.p.h. struck and killed a helpless cripple whose wheelchair got stuck between the rails.

Grayford Mesick, 25, was knocked 50 feet by the speeding train and died 2½ hours later at Albany Medical Center Hospital.

Mesick was sitting on the tracks in his motorized wheelchair watching a tow truck pull a pickup truck out of the mud nine miles south of Albany, N.Y.

The Amtrak passenger train had just rounded a corner when the engineer spotted Mesick's wheelchair still sitting on the tracks.

He quickly blew the horn and flashed the lights before slamming on the brakes, said Amtrak spokesman Michael Stewart.

"Mr. Mesick was trying to get his wheelchair off the tracks but it got stuck between the rails," said a fire department spokesman.

Trains normally reach speeds of up to 110 m.p.h. in the section of track where the grisly accident occurred, said Stewart.

Mesick, who was paralyzed in a swimming accident nine years ago, was conscious when taken to the hospital in Albany. Doctors report that he died in the operating room.

Flu-proof — with a snort!

Researchers are trying to develop a flu vaccine that's snorted through the nose!

Unlike injectable flu vaccines, which sometimes produce flu-like symptoms, the sniffable version shouldn't cause any sickness whatsoever. Dr. Edwin Anderson, who's slated to test the new vaccine at the Center for Vaccine Development at St. Louis University Medical Center, says the sniffable vaccine may produce longer-lasting immunity than flu shots.

etta, Ohio, and could find her way unguided from one end of town to another.

She could describe buildings that had stood there in the early 1900s when she lived in Marietta as Sandra Jenkins.

"It's not spooky to me anymore, but at first it scared me to death," said Mrs. Rudolph, a nurse. "I didn't believe in reincarnation — it went against my teachings.

"But after my trip to Marietta I couldn't let this thing go. It was a fixation with me. I don't know what reincarnation is, but I know this has taught me a lot."

The plump brunette says the first indications that she had lived before came when she began having flashbacks to her other life at the age of 5. In a recurring dream, she saw herself standing in front of a church in a long white dress. She was about 15 years old. From the church she walked several blocks to a cemetery, following a path to her grandmother's grave.

"I've had the dream about 800 times," Mrs. Rudolph said. "Sometimes I dream it once a month and then I dream it over and over again. It's very clear."

When she began to draw, she often drew the same picture, the mother-of-one recalled. It was of a young woman wearing a light green dress of the Victorian era, with high neck and long sleeves. All through her life, she would remember names of people and places she'd never seen.

The name "Marietta" was among these. Only when it occurred to her in 1979 that "Marietta" was a place and not a person did Mrs. Rudolph make up her mind to visit the town. That visit changed her life.

"I thought something was seriously wrong with me," she said. "I went to a psychiatrist who hypnotized me back to my early childhood and that's when Sandra came out. I told the doctor I was Sandra Jean Jenkins and that I was 12 years old. I was born in 1885."

In later hypnosis sessions, Mrs. Rudolph found out Sandra had drowned herself at the age of 19 after her boyfriend died, leaving her alone and pregnant. A search of Ohio records turned up little information on Sandra, but did confirm that a Jenkins family had lived in Marietta.

"I found a 1908 family photograph with an unidentified girl in it," she said. "The girl looks about 13, just the age Sandra would have been at that time. I'm convinced it's her.

"And when I went back to Marietta, I found the cemetery and the church from my dream. I found a house and garden belonging to the relatives of the Jenkins — just like one I used to draw as a child."

Mrs. Rudolph believes many people have lived other lives but are afraid to admit it. She's speaking out in the hope that she can convince others to talk about their past lives, too.

DANIELE GILBERT wants to share the secret that brought her luck

FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY:
ONE FULL MONTH
ABSOLUTELY FREE
NO OBLIGATION FOR 30 DAYS.
SEE FORM BELOW.

(An open letter from Daniele Gilbert to everyone who has no luck in life or has real problems)

Think you have problems? I remember the day in 1981 when I lost my TV job. I remember that black period when nothing was going right for me. I remember those times when it was hard at the end of the month. Believe me, I know what it means to be chased by bad luck.

Today, everything is going wonderfully well. Maybe you have seen my photograph on magazine covers.

I have been written up in the press. I've returned to television. I have just signed several big contracts. I miraculously escaped injury in a terrible automobile accident.

Look at the ring worn by Daniele Gilbert. It's the talisman (4,500 years old) worn by the Pharaohs of ancient Egypt. It has brought great luck to Daniele Gilbert. If you act quickly, you can wear this same talisman free for 30 days. But there is only one condition...

Where does such luck come from so suddenly?

I'm going to tell you in a minute. But first, let me ask you a question. Do I look like the kind of person who would buy talismans or good luck charms?

Well, I assure you, I am not. In fact, I've always been very skeptical about things that are supposed to bring you luck, or help you win the lottery.

But that all changed when I heard about the legendary Ring of Re.

I again some inquiries.

And discovered that many men and women had found luck as soon as they started wearing the Ring of Re. They won contests or the lottery, others large amounts of money, or they received unexpected inheritances, or benefited from lucky events at work, in their emotional life, or their health.

I can tell you that all these things troubled me. I wanted to know more about it to try to explain the mysterious powers of the Ring of Re.

I learned that this ring was the exact reproduction of an ancient piece of Egyptian jewelry that was found in the last century. It was worn many centuries ago by the Pharaohs, kings and other very highly-placed people.

This ring has the reputation of protecting everyone who wore it from bad luck. It had the reputation of attracting good luck to all the games of chance of that period. There is no doubt that the geometric forms drawn in relief on the ring are directly related to the secret of its supernatural powers. As far as I know, there is no rational explanation. But it would seem that the form and the arrangement of the geometric figures are only have a protective influence, but also modify our psychic and mentality our intuitive powers. That is what researchers and writers such as A. Mailla (protoscilar dimensions), Jacques La Maya (former physicist and others, as well, have concluded.

I was more and more troubled by these revelations.

I said to myself, "Can all these reputable, serious, competent specialists be wrong? Is it simply coincidence that thousands of people suddenly find themselves with luck?"

Finally, I made my decision. I ordered the Ring of Re. I had nothing to lose since I could try the ring free of charge for 30 days (as you can, if you want to). They had told me, "If no particularly lucky event happens within 30 days, all you have to do is return the ring and it won't cost you anything."

The luck is true...

I kept the ring.

The first time I put it on my finger, I felt a strange sensation come over me, like a protective presence.

As the days went by, my life didn't seem particularly improved. But then I had that horrifying automobile accident. I got out alive, uninjured, from a car that had become a flattened scrap heap. I am certain I wouldn't no longer be in this world if it hadn't been for the Ring of Re. I could feel that it was protecting me.

I felt it in the same way you can feel a physical sensation. Later, I had other proof. I would not want to be without it today for anything in the world. From then on, I have worn it all the time.

The reason I agreed to tell my story is to allow people with emotional or money problems to learn of an effective, accessible means which has been proven throughout the centuries.

The role of the Ring of Re is to protect the person wearing it from any attack (evil, misfortune, at home, on at work), as well as from certain "telluric" waves that can be generated by various objects (mirrors, all sorts of installations, etc.)—in short, from the environment in which you live every day. The Ring of Re effectively protects you from all harm that could come to you, without your even being aware of it. It is the No. 1 weapon to overcome bad luck or bewitchment.

Daniele Gilbert

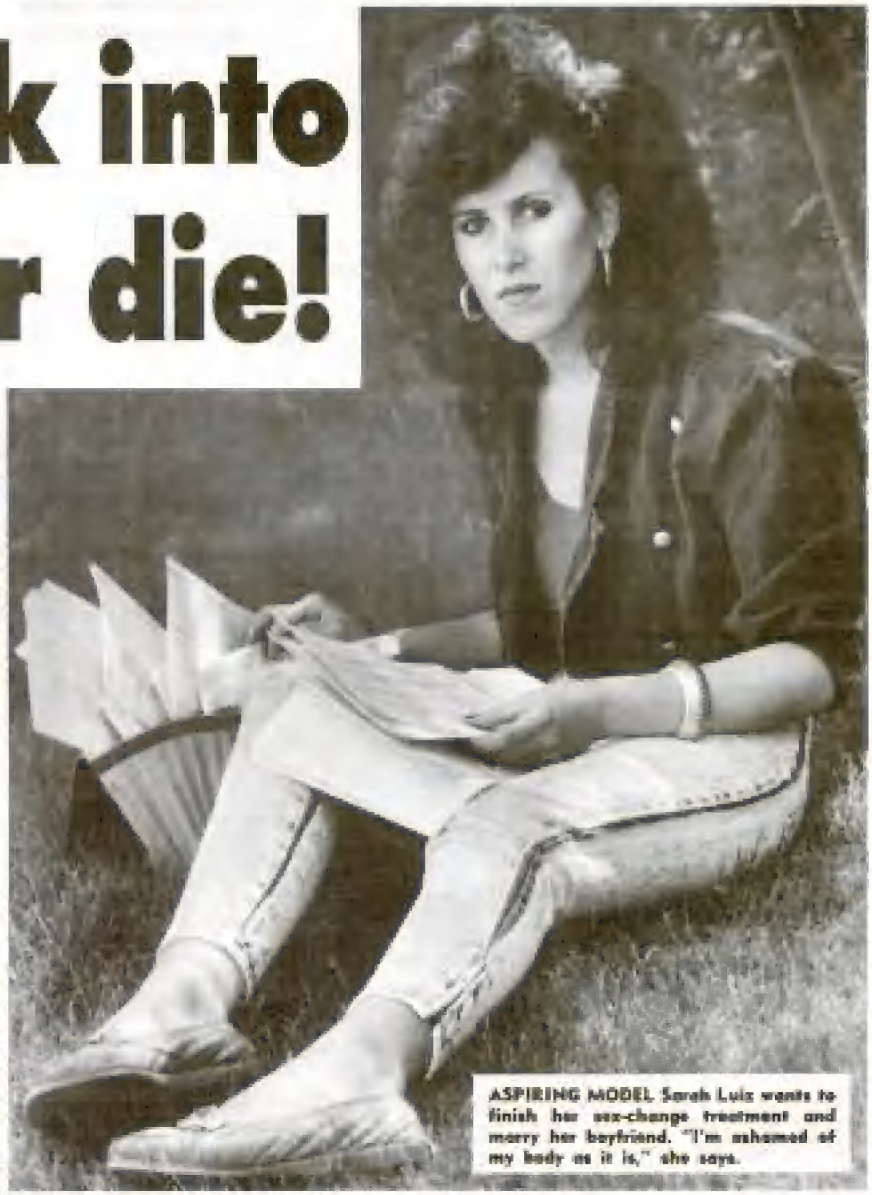
SEX-CHANGE CUTIE WARNED:

Turn back into a man or die!



ASPIRING MODEL Sarah Luiz wants to finish her sex-change treatment and marry her boyfriend. "I'm ashamed of my body as it is," she says.

By SUSAN JIMISON
Staff writer

Sex-change surgery has become a life-or-death matter for pretty transsexual Sarah Luiz.

The 28-year-old former waiter began taking female hormones more than two years ago so she could realize her dream of becoming a woman. But when she wanted to undergo surgery to remove her male sex organs, her insurance company refused to pay for it — and doctors say the delay is killing her.

"These female hormones are dangerous and I have to take large doses to override the male hormones my body produces naturally," Sarah told The NEWS. "Doctors say I needed to have my male sex organs removed two years ago. If I go off the hormones without surgery, I'll go back to being a man. If I don't go off the hormones, I die."

Powerful female hormones killing her

The 5-foot-11 brunette, who wants to be a model, is battling to get her health insurance company to pay for the sex swap. But her $30 million lawsuit is at a standstill in the courts and time is running out for Sarah.

The she-male says she can't stop her hormone treatments and go back to being a man because she's already too far along. She has a curvy female figure and a high voice and her beard is gone.

Yet doctors have told frightened Sarah that every day she delays could cut short her life.

"I'm facing all kinds of fatal illnesses," the Portsmouth, N.H., beauty said. "I could get cancer, diabetes, epilepsy or liver disorders.

"I live in fear that I'll lose my life if I don't get the operation soon. The whole thing is a nightmare. They have totally ruined my life and I can't let them get away with that."

To make matters worse, Sarah is in love with karate instructor Tom Johnson and she wants to be his wife soon.

"We've talked about getting married and raising a child," Sarah said sadly. "But right now, I'm stuck in between. I'm just existing."

Sarah's peculiar problem doesn't turn her lover off, though. He's patiently waiting till Sarah is a lady at last.

"She's a beautiful woman and a beautiful person," said starry-eyed Johnson recently.

SALAMANDER CANCER CURE

THE salamander has a built-in immunity to cancer.

The study of common salamanders may lead to a cure for cancer!

That's the word from a university expert who says that salamanders have a built-in immunity to all forms of infection, including cancer.

"They never get infected with anything," said Panagiotis Tsonis, professor of biology at the University of Dayton in Ohio.

Prof. Tsonis is conducting research on 200 salamanders in his bid to find a new treatment or cure for cancer.

Hearse hijacked!

Mourners got the shock of their lives as they were leaving a Canadian funeral home and two teens tried to steal the hearse carrying the corpse!

The family and friends of the late Josephine Gravel-Savard were heading to the church for the funeral in Montreal, Quebec, when the punks jumped into the hearse and started to drive off. A funeral home employee arriving in a company van blocked the road.

The hearse slammed into the van and workers nabbed the pair.

Cops said the spoiled brats, ages 16 and 17, claimed they'd stolen the hearse to express their disdain for people.

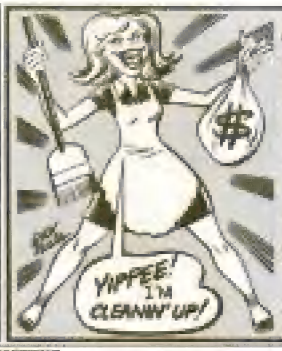
Free beer with high-priced eggs? Cops didn't buy it!

Eggs were $15.50 each on the breakfast menu at a Georgia farm home — but the beer was free.

Sheriff's deputies arrested a father and his son near Waycross, Ga., for violating a state ban on Sunday sale of alcoholic beverages.

The suspects explained they were simply giving away two six-packs of beer with each meal and just charging customers for the egg.

But the doubtful deputy sheriffs didn't buy it, and cited the creative pair.



She waited six long years . . .

Lucky maid who found $30G gets to keep it!

Maid Diana Merriweather found a whopping $30,000 stuffed behind a dresser in a hotel room she was cleaning — and a judge has ruled it's all hers!

"I guess I'm a bit surprised," said delighted Diana, who hopes to use the huge windfall to start a small business.

The lucky lady discovered the loot in a room at Atlanta's Tower Place Hotel, but she had to wait six long years before a court finally ruled finders keepers.

DIET DISCOVERY ASTOUNDS SCIENTIFIC COMMUNITY!

In what is being acclaimed a "major breakthrough," a group of European scientists have recently discovered a powerful new weight-loss formula that causes rapid weight loss without conventional dieting or exercise. The discovery was made while researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, were searching for a compound to lower cholesterol. In a test group of people who took the formula, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but doctors were astounded to find that every patient had lost a significant amount of weight!

ACTUALLY SUPPRESSES ABSORPTION OF CALORIES!

Medical researchers quickly discovered that this new formula actually alters the way your body digests food. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you eat and "ties up" calories, especially those from fats, preventing their absorption. So a significant portion of the ingested calories pass through and out of the digestive system unabsorbed. Your body must burn stored fat to replace these lost (unabsorbed) calories.

CLINICALLY TESTED

Further medical tests of the new formula have been made at another prestigious European University. Results published in the BRITISH JOURNAL OF NUTRITION stated: "Body weight was significantly reduced during the study even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits." This new compound is so powerful, so effective and so relentless in its attack on bulging deposits of fatty tissue that it has virtually eliminated the need for the usual dieting and torturous exercise routines.

FORMULA PROVEN SAFE

After clinical testing to verify safety, it was formulated into one of the most effective weight reducing pills of all time. This revolutionary formulation is being marketed in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000™. It is now available without a prescription from Anderson Pharmacals, which holds exclusive North American rights to Cal-Ban 3000™. Cal-Ban 3000™ is derived from a 100% natural plant source and contains no drugs or stimulants.

Cal-Ban 3000™ allows you to continue to eat and enjoy plenty of your favorite foods. All you have to do is to remember to take your Cal-Ban 3000™! Your body's fat cells will quickly begin to shrink. You'll be amazed at how fast measurable results can be seen! Some best case histories report losing up to 8 pounds of fat and fluid in the first 72 hours! Dissolving away up to 15 pounds the first week and dropping up to 40 pounds the first month! Others have continued to lose up to 50, 60 and 80 or more pounds.

ACT NOW TO CHANGE YOUR LIFE!

Now you can transform your body into a slender, more youthful figure with ease. You can become the trim, attractive man or woman who is admired by everyone! Some Cal-Ban 3000™ users have reported losing a full dress size in one week...2 dress sizes in 14 days! You'll feel great about yourself when you see how good you look in stylish new clothes! And you will see your social life improve dramatically as you enjoy the self confidence your slender, trim body brings!

Nice people are bigger cancer risks

Nice people are likelier to get cancer, researchers say.

Recent studies found that an unusually large percentage of melanoma patients also have passive, pleasant personalities, says a psychologist at the University of California, Lydia Temoshok.

Repressing anger and bending over backward for others may make people more susceptible to disease, some scientists think.

Roommates fed up with buddy's stinky feet — so they chop 'em off!

By ROBERT SNEAD
Correspondent

Juan Miranda refused to wash his stinking feet so his roommates waited until he went to sleep and chopped them off with a machete!

Martin Aliago and Octavio Rozanas were arrested and charged with aggravated assault in the desperation attack and face up to seven years in prison if convicted.

The men don't deny the charges. In fact, they say they had the right to chop off Miranda's feet because they stunk to high heaven.

"We share an apartment and he had no right to stink it all up," Aliago fumed in his statement to police in Lima, Peru.

"We told him to wash. We offered to buy him foot deodorant.

"He just laughed and told us to put clothespins on our noses if we didn't like it."

Miranda was hospitalized in serious but stable condition after the bizarre attack and was not available for comment.

Hospital officials said he lost an enormous amount of blood and was lucky to have survived at all.

"It's one of the strangest cases I've ever investigated," said Police Lt. Cesar Banchero.

"Aliago and Rozanas cut Miranda's feet off because they stunk. It's as simple as that. They had no other motive."

Witness identifies crook by his buns!

Masked holdup man Darron Anderson was handed a five-year stay in the slammer because he was fingered by a witness — who recognized his fanny!

Anderson and accomplice Daryl Davis, 24, were convicted of robbing the Tulsa, Okla., restaurant where they both worked.

Though both men wore ski masks, another employee identified 21-year-old Anderson as one of the gunmen.

"She maintained she recognized the configuration of Anderson's buttocks," prosecutor John Kelson explained. "I personally never cast my eyes upon a defendant's nether regions."

Amazing psychic kids can 'see' — with their FINGERS!

BLINDFOLDED Aldo Altimarano reads from magazine for startled experts.

Brothers' incredible powers baffle the experts!

By CONNIE PEREZ
In Mexico City

In an incredible demonstration, two young brothers stunned a team of observers by proving beyond a doubt that they can "see" with their fingers!

As the amazed team watched in shocked disbelief, the blindfolded boys:

- Identified and read books in English even though neither boy can speak English.
- Identified objects they couldn't possibly have seen before.
- Successfully navigated an obstacle course and correctly described obstacles set up along the way.

The astounding brothers, Aldo and Eric Altimarano of Mexico City, are 12 and 8 years old respectively.

Their mind-boggling powers were closely examined — and proven — in a closely monitored test at the Mexican Institute for the Study of Paranormal Phenomena, where Aldo and Eric are being studied.

"Aldo has been able to see without using his eyes since he was about 2½. Eric has only recently been able to 'read' with his fingers," said Martha Strauss, president of the institute.

Participating in the test were: Robert Torcy, who is Director of Investigation at the Institute; Raul Sanchez, a news reporter for Mexican TV Channel 2, and Maria Santander, a Mexican TV personality who was an avowed skeptic.

Aldo was totally blindfolded using thick cotton cloth and adhesive bandages. Layers of adhesive were added until the entire upper half of Aldo's face was covered — eliminating the possibility of sneaking a peek out from under the blindfold.

For the first test, Mrs. Strauss stood six feet in front of Aldo and produced a box of Marlboro cigarettes from her purse. "What kind of candy am I holding?" she asked.

The boy moved his fingers in the direction of her voice. "That's not candy," he said. "That's a red and white box of Marlboro cigarettes."

Suddenly a girl in a blue sweater entered the room bringing coffee.

Aldo was asked who had just walked in. "A young girl dressed in blue," he promptly replied.

The youngster then correctly read a warranty card and an old business card. Next, Aldo was led by the research team to a makeshift obstacle course. He easily navigated his way through it, identifying objects — a cardboard cube, a shoe, a chair — as he moved along.

Then it was time for Eric, 8, to show his psychic abilities. Blindfolded just as his brother had been, Eric easily read the cover of a U.S. guidebook and a passport.

All the observers were astounded at what they'd witnessed.

"I am absolutely satisfied that what I saw was legitimate," said Torcy.

Added Miss Santander: "I'm a skeptic. But they really saw without using their eyes! It was no trick."

Waitress gets $10G tip!

Waitress Tami Wolf won a whopping $10,000 lottery jackpot with a scratch-off ticket a customer tipped her with!

Nobody knows who gave Miss Wolf the winning ticket. Customers generally drop tips — including lottery tickets — in a fishbowl that the waitress empties when she's finished for the day.

Dick Plasman

Headstrong pro was the last to play football without a helmet!

By DICK DONOVAN
Staff writer

Two major events were recorded in the 1940 NFL football championship game: The high-charged Chicago Bears humiliated the wimpy Washington Redskins 73-zip — and hard-headed Dick Plasman became the last man to play without a helmet!

The National Football League made the wearing of helmets mandatory in 1943. But as early as that 1940 title game, all players were already wearing helmets — all players except Bear end Dick Plasman.

Pro players weren't nearly as well padded and protected in those hard-hitting games of yore and history failed to record how many players went into their retirement years with scrambled brains. But if handsome, wavy-haired Plasman was seeing stars or hearing the little birdies sing, it wasn't apparent in the Bears' 73-0 win over the Redskins, a score which more than 50 years later still stands as the most lopsided in league history.

Plasman played the entire game without a helmet and was one of five Bears who booted extra points.

Plasman ended his eight-year career with the Chicago Cardinals in 1947.

Walking wonder

Docs said he'd never take a step — but invention proves 'em wrong

Brave little James Rowe was born with a spinal ailment so severe doctors feared he'd spend his life in a wheelchair. But three years later, the grinning kid is toddling up a storm — thanks to a special walking cage and a revolutionary leg brace.

The live wire London, England, boy suffers from a disease called spina bifida and will never walk without some kind of support.

But he was rescued from the wheelchair by a brace pioneered by a crippled English policeman who designed the miracle device for his own use.

The brace transfers gutsy James' weight from his legs to his hips and chest, allowing him to get around under his own steam.

— JOE BERGER

LITTLE James Rowe is thrilled to toddle around with this nifty invention.

Hero bawled out!

A mailman, who injured himself when he smashed through a door to save two toddlers from their burning home, got a letter from the U.S. Postal Service — chewing him out for not adhering to "safe work practices."

But Postmaster William Thomas said the nasty letter was a mistake that was quickly corrected.

Heroic Ray Kaulfers, who makes his daily rounds in Lodi, N.J., was "begged" for his forgiveness and awarded an achiever's pin.

Good news for lardbottoms

It's incredible but true — big butts are good for you!

That's the word from Dr. Richard Ostlund, who says that people with oversized behinds have higher levels of good cholesterol — the kind that lowers the risk of heart disease — than people with butts that are small.

The expert conducted his research at the Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis.

Underwater ogler banned from pool

A University of Toronto panel "convicted" the 60-year-old chemical engineering prof of "prolonged staring."

New study reveals . . .

Why gals get drunk quicker

Women get drunk quicker than men because they produce much less of a stomach enzyme that breaks down alcohol before it hits the bloodstream, reports a new study.

When a man and woman of the same size drink the same amount, women absorb one-third more alcohol than men, said Dr. Charles Lieber of the Mt. Sinai Medical School of New York City.

The new study of 43 men and women also found that:

- Men who don't drink have the highest level of the protective enzyme, alcohol dehydrogenase, followed by women who are moderate drinkers and male alcoholics.
- Female alcoholics have almost none of the enzyme.
- The enzyme works best after a meal.

Georgia man kept wife's suicide secret until he finished watching the Super Bowl!

By JACK ALEXANDER
Staff writer

Football nut hubby Gary Holloway didn't rush to the phone and call cops when his wife committed suicide — he flipped on the TV and watched the Super Bowl.

Mary Holloway blew her brains out about 7 a.m. on Super Bowl Sunday during an argument with her husband, said Deputy Chris Butler in Jonesboro, Ga.

"Gary Holloway got in his car and drove around for a while and ended up at his mother-in-law's house about 10 miles away that afternoon," said Dep. Butler. "He said they watched the Super Bowl but he didn't bother telling his mother-in-law that her daughter was dead," he said.

Holloway, 36, waited until 9 a.m. the next day — 26 hours after his wife killed herself — to call police.

"Mr. Holloway said he had been looking forward to the game and meant to report his wife's death after it was over, but he'd had a few drinks by then," said Dep. Butler.

The Clayton County medical examiner has officially ruled the 35-year-old woman's death a suicide.

"We know this thing is bizarre and we know what the husband did was wrong, but the fact that he didn't report the death for 26 hours doesn't constitute murder," said Jim Mayhe, an investigator for the medical examiner.

Mrs. Holloway shot herself in the throat and chin.

An investigation revealed the time of death and wounds were consistent with Holloway's account. "It's a mystery to me how anyone can watch a three-hour football game — especially one as lopsided as that one — and not mention that his wife was dead," said Dep. Butler.

"We have to go by the evidence even though it is certainly not conclusive," said Dep. Butler.

"We have nothing to disprove Holloway's story, but our investigation isn't over."

Sting tears his knee to shreds in steel cage match

By BERNIE BASHER

A wild and woolly steel cage match ended in screaming agony for wrestling superstar Sting when sucurity guards tore his knee to shreds as they tried to pull him from the cage.

"They twisted his leg like a pretzel," said one shocked witness.

The Stinger had dashed out of his dressing room and climbed the cage to ambush his old nemesis "Nature Boy" Ric Flair during the recent Clash of the Champions X in Corpus Cristi, Tex. Flair was in the cage battling several other wrestlers during a battle royal.

The injury will cheat Sting out of his chance to grab the NWA world championship from the Nature Boy at Wrestle War '90 on February 25 in Greensboro, N.C.

The big championship match shaped up as a real grudge battle between these former friends before the lame leg put Sting on the sidelines.

Shocking reason why stew tasted so bad:

'This isn't a rabbit — it's DOG meat!'

Paul Gilbert said a health department spokesman, Jorge Garcia.

"If rabbit meat is scarce, a butcher is almost sure to stock dog."

Couple hopping mad at butcher's bizarre switch

By TONY STANTON

A wife and husband were hospitalized in shock after they found out the rabbit they bought from a butcher and stewed for dinner was actually a dog!

Paul and Melissa Gilbert ate several bites of the revolting dish before they realized that something was wrong.

Their suspicions were confirmed when they took what remained of the meal to the health department and heard an official tell them: "This isn't a rabbit — it's dog meat!"

"I got sick right there in the office and my wife fainted dead away," said Gilbert, 48, of Mexico City.

"I expected to hear that the meat was bad but I didn't expect to hear it was dog.

"I can't really remember what happened next. I think I sat down in a chair and put my head in my hands.

"The next thing I know my wife and I were in hospital beds.

"A nurse informed me we were being treated for shock."

The mind-blowing incident stunned the Gilberts, who moved from Chicago to Mexico City last November, but didn't seem to bother health authorities in the least.

They told the couple that Mexican butchers routinely substitute dog meat for rabbit meat, especially when rabbit is scarce.

"It's one of those things that people know and understand but never talk about," said a health department spokesman, Jorge Garcia.

"If rabbit meat is scarce, a butcher is almost sure to stock dog."

Lost bus driver dumped kids, say cops

A bus driver got lost while driving her route and dropped off seven kids back at school — after it had closed for the day, say cops.

"You're gifted, you figure out what to do," cops quoted driver Bobbette Collier as telling the kids.

A man who lived near Edison Comprehensive Gifted School in Chicago invited the children in to call their parents.

Police charged Miss Collier, 35, with seven counts of contributing to the neglect of children.

"Ex-Truck Driver Gets $21,108 a Month Doing What You Aren't"

By Neville B. Levin - Special Feature Writer.

Orlando, FL. – "In only 6 months I took in a whopping $126,650 - and I can take any average person and show them exactly how to do it," declares Lawrence Tabak.

"It made me an extra $30,000, my way, requires little effort."

Tabak began a few years ago with humble beginnings as a truck driver. But the cash didn't start to roll in until he discovered this little known money making secret.

Now, on a trial basis, Tabak has begun to train everyday people, just like himself, how to duplicate his new system.

Already the results have been astounding. For example, one person in St. Augustine wrote that they had made $8,500 in an unbelievable 11 days!

"I'm no smarter than you," he states, "only, I have discovered an amazing wealth system."

"Put my program into action," he says, "and you are admired driving your sparkling Mercedes, BMW, or Cadillac. You dazzle your friends with your new dream home. And people see you radiating like a champion."

"You can really be the kind of person that you always wanted to be."

And what's more," he adds, "to make an extra $30,000, my way, requires little effort!"

"Look, there's no magic wand, and poof . . .you're rich. It does take time and work. But it's worth it. In fact," he adds, "I only want people who are willing to put forth some effort to use it."

Now, you may not make as much as Tabak, but if you are a real "Go-Getter," you will make even more. And above all, the nice part is that you win the respect of your friends and family.

Tabak has offered to send further details to readers who want to learn his new wealth system. Simply send your name and address to:

BUUURRRRRPPPPP!

BIG BURPER in action! Panel-by-panel photos show Jeffrey Ovellette as he stunned the crowd with his world-record belch!

World's biggest belch lasts 3 minutes and 23 seconds

By DAMON RAY

Macho Jeffrey Ovellette stunned an audience of 200 when he cut loose with the world's longest burp, a 3 minute 23 second outburst that crackled and rumbled like summer thunder!

"It sounded good. It felt good," Ovellette, 28, told reporters. "A burp like this belongs in the record books.

"I don't know what else to say. It don't get any better than this."

Ovellette, of Seattle, Wash., was one of 23 men competing in the first annual Big Burp Contest in Copenhagen, Denmark. Some 200 people gathered in an auditorium to watch the men go at it.

But Ovellette blew all comers away, easily outdistancing Georg Madsen, the runner-up, by a full minute. "Preparation is the key," said Ovellette, a carpenter who stands 6 feet tall and tilts the scales at 275 pounds.

"I started drinking beer two hours before the contest and ate two big links of salami. Cabbage always makes me burp and I ate a few bowls of that, too.

"I was really ready to go when I hit the stage. I loosened up by running in place, then I got really still, took a deep breath and let go with my burp.

"I had my mouth right up against a microphone and the noise coming through the sound system literally rattled the rafters.

"People started clapping and laughing and yelling as the seconds ticked off the clock. It was a burp to beat all burps. I actually surprised myself."

The Guinness Book of World Records reveals that the current record for holding one's breath is 6 minutes and 29 seconds. Doctors say that Ovellette must have incredibly large lungs to be able to carry on such a long belch — but it is possible for almost anyone to do it with practice.

At least one woman fainted during Ovellette's performance but contest officials said she recovered quickly and was O.K.

The young man received $500 and a large silver trophy for his burp contest win.

He also vowed to defend his title when the second annual burp contest is held next year.

"Mr. Ovellette is a remarkable man," says contest judge Jorgen Kristensen. "His burp was absolutely incredible."

WATCH IT, GUYS...

Gals just as quick to use their fists!

Women resort to violence as often as men to settle arguments.

That's the word from sociologist Murray Straus, who conducted a survey of 8,000 Americans and found that women are just as likely to hit a man as vice versa.

"We've been working on men to lay off for years, but that isn't enough. Both parties have to renounce hitting," said Prof. Straus of the University of New Hampshire Family Research Laboratory.

Brush watchdog's teeth!

Pampered pooches who get their teeth brushed at least once a week make meaner, smarter watchdogs.

That's the fascinating conclusion of Dr. Mario Rizzi, an Italian veterinarian who's spent years studying doggie behavior.

"Dogs who are well-cared-for — and especially those whose owners brush their teeth on a regular basis — seem to be more alert guard dogs," Dr. Rizzi said.

Pooches prefer meat-flavored toothpaste, he added.

Couple celebrates 74 years of wacky, wonderful marriage

By SUSAN JIMISON

WE'VE had a good life, say Ernie and Sylvia Simmons, who recently celebrated their 74th wedding anniversary.

You can't tell by looking at them, but Sylvia and Ernie Simmons have had a hell of a good time all their lives, including the day they celebrated their 74th wedding anniversary last month.

According to spry Sylvia, 93, who lives in a Colorado Springs, Colo., nursing home with her 96-year-old mate, their anniversary party was a blast. In fact, it was so wild she and her husband got a little tuckered out from all the festivities.

"We had a beautiful anniversary," Sylvia told The NEWS. "There was a big party at the home. We got tired out because it's a big nursing center with a lot of people and they all came to congratulate us."

The somber seniors say they've been blissfully married ever since they tied the knot back in 1918. They had one daughter, two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

"We tried to get along and be happy," said Sylvia. "We worked together and talked things over — that's the secret to a successful marriage.

"We took trips together and shared activities together. We had sickness and sorrow, of course. But we are in good shape."

The couple moved to Colorado two years after they married in Kansas. They settled in the countryside, where Ernie farmed until he retired two decades ago.

Tinted specs may make you sick, says study

People who wear tinted eyeglasses are risking their happiness and mental health!

According to a new study, people who wear tinted glasses experience much higher levels of depression, obsessive-compulsive disorders and psychosomatic illness than those who wear plain specs.

The results of the study were published in the prestigious medical journal The Lancet, although no explanation was given as to why tinted eyeglasses cause problems.

Banner's big boo-boo

Enthusiastic city bigwigs goofed when they hung a giant 30-foot banner produced in the native language of the Philippines — and wished visiting Filipinos "circumcision" instead of "welcome." The phrase should have read, "Tuloy po kayo," but it came out, "Tuley po kayo."

The change from "o" to "e" in the first word was the mistake.

Workers in San Jose, Calif., hastily pulled down the $10,000 banner before guests arrived.

MEDICAL ALERT

Sedative makes gals think dentists are seducing them . . . WARNS EXPERT

By JOE BERGER

Lady patients who accuse their dentist of molesting them may actually have experienced a powerful erotic fantasy — brought on by a drug used to calm their nerves!

The racy escapades can seem so real that bewildered women may never be convinced they have imagined the whole thing, an expert revealed in The Lancet, a respected British medical journal.

Lawyer Diana Brahams said many dentists and doctors may have been wrongly convicted of sex crimes that were really fantasies caused by a sedative called benzodiazeprine.

"We know of several dozen cases in which women have had imaginary erotic experiences while under the influence of benzodiazeprine," Miss Brahams, a specialist in medical law, said in an interview.

"Nobody can say how many other cases there have been, and that presents some special problems for dentists who use the drug to help put patients at ease."

The London, England, lawyer says the drug's sexy side effects may have been the downfall of some dentists whose reputations and careers were ruined by assault accusations.

"While allegations may be well-founded, as such behavior is not unknown, they may equally well be a fantasy induced by the drug," she said.

The lady lawyer advises dentists to have witnesses present anytime they use the sedative.

Sailors robbed by kiddie gang

. . . youngest bandit was first-grader!

Two sailors were robbed at gunpoint by a gang of pint-sized punks — the youngest was a tyke in the first grade.

The sailors were returning from a theater in Orlando, Fla., when they were approached by the baby-faced bandits, the oldest of whom looked about 13. As one boy held the victims at gunpoint with a rusty, long-barreled pistol, the others stole their money, getting away with a few dollars from the sailors' wallets, police say.

SUPER BOWL STUNNER

Bad-tempered Texan gal Viola Douglas stabbed her boyfriend in the neck with a barbecue fork — because he switched the TV from the Disney channel she was watching so he could watch the Super Bowl game!

The 37-year-old Houston woman pleaded guilty to misdemeanor assault and drew a 10-month jail term for what boyfriend Eddie Harris considered very unsportsman-like conduct.

ROOM FOR ONE MORE?

The next time you complain about the public transportation system in your town, remember these sardine-packed Nigerian commuters.

They heap their bundles and their bodies on top of something called a "bus-truck" when they want to make a trip across the desert. This group is pictured outside Agadez, Nigeria, at the start of a trip that will take about four hours.

The travelers bump and sway through the desert dust and heat, hanging on for dear life. A fall to the sand below might leave a passenger stranded under the glaring sun without water — a dangerous accident, indeed.

At just $2.45 for a 150-mile trip, traveling on a bus-truck is a good deal.

And there's another, unexpected, bonus: You don't have to worry about timetables and schedules because there aren't any. Arrival time is whenever the bus-truck gets there. And departure time is whenever it loads up and takes off again.

CHEATER BEATER!

The University of Florida hit on a unique way to catch cheaters — officials installed a hot line so honest students can turn them in!

The telephone rings off the hook especially during exam periods, and is thought to be the only one of its kind in the nation, officials said.

Caught in the act!

Bored burglar hooked by Nintendo game, say cops

By JOE BERGER

Bungling burglar Kelly Lee Hardyman broke into a house, swiped some money and could have escaped scot-free. But the dumbo desperado got caught, cops said — because he stopped to play the family's Nintendo game!

"Apparently he was so hooked on Nintendo that he just couldn't pull himself away," said Police Lt. Sadie Darnell. "That does not seem real smart to me."

Cops said the sticky-fingered Hardyman, 19, was supposed to be under house arrest for previous burglary convictions when he broke into the Gainesville, Fla., home of Gary and Susan Kirkland.

"He said he just got so bored he went out and started burglarizing houses again," Lt. Darnell said. At the Kirkland home, the pea-brained burglar picked up what little money he could find and was headed out the door when he spied the Nintendo game in the family room, police said.

He was still playing like a kid 40 minutes later when startled Susan Kirkland came home for lunch and found him there. "Just get out of here!" she screamed as the terrified teen barreled out the door and down the street — with Susan, 38, in hot pursuit.

A neighbor joined the chase on foot, and moments later a passing motorist came to help.

"Before long there were five people chasing the guy, some of them on foot and some of them in cars," Lt. Darnell said. "It didn't take them long to catch him. By the time anybody called us, it was all over."

The Nintendo nut was charged with burglarizing the Kirkland home and a nearby house, where he allegedly stole $20 earlier in the day.

Cops said Hardyman stopped to play Nintendo in that house, too.

CERTAIN DEATH: Tourist Daniel O'Brien dove into the massive, whirling blades of a jet engine.

Man throws himself into jet engine

Suicide victim was on vacation!

By JACK ALEXANDER

Cops in Trinidad are scratching their heads in shocked disbelief about the gory way a young tourist killed himself — by jumping into the jet engine of a 747.

"It is difficult to imagine that anyone would commit suicide in such a horrible manner," said Airport Authority Chairman Winston Suite in Port-of-Spain.

Vacationing Daniel J. O'Brien of Bensonville, Ill., apparently stripped naked, attacked four airport guards and stole a jeep, cops said. The 31-year-old landscape contractor then drove the jeep onto the airport tarmac to a British Airways 747 that was readying for takeoff.

O'Brien rammed the jeep into the plane, jumped up on the hood and leaped into the whirling engine blades of the giant jet, said police.

"Needless to say, death was instantaneous," said an airport spokesman. "It was three or four minutes before the pilot shut down the engines."

O'Brien and one of his buddies had been vacationing on Tobago, the sister island of Trinidad in the Caribbean.

The suicide victim apparently had an argument with his friend at the hotel, said police. There was a fight. The friend was beat up. A short time later, O'Brien scaled the airport's barbed-wire fence.

A woman who identified herself as O'Brien's girlfriend when The NEWS called Bensonville, said the family was at a loss to explain his suicide. "We are very upset. He had a 7-year-old son," she said.

Space-age plastic made from mashed potatoes

Scientists have turned from their test tubes to mashing potatoes — in an attempt to make a new kind of plastic!

The delighted scientists say the new plastic is biodegradable and won't poison the environment.

GIANT HOROSCOPE

FOR WEEK OF Mon., Feb. 26-Sun., Mar. 4

By Countess Sophia Sabak

ARIES
Mar. 21-Apr. 19

The time has never been better to plan a second honeymoon.

It could make you both happier than ever.

If you're single, this is not the time for romance. Take a break until your finances are in a better position.

If you think everyone else has taken a nasty pill while you're walking on air this week, don't cave in.

Your bubbly spirit will win admiration and affection from all.

Extra cash may come your way.

TAURUS
Apr. 20-May 20

Someone you crossed last year is plotting revenge this week and you'll need eyes in the back of your head to stop them.

You are not in physical danger but your pride and ego could be in for a bruising. When it comes, don't forget who started it.

A loved one gets good news in the mail and their joy is contagious. Join in the celebration!

Watch what you eat. You are prone to upset stomach and indigestion this week.

GEMINI
May 21-June 20

Kind words from an unexpected source will delight you and heal old wounds. Be sure to show your appreciation — and pass a little on to others.

Don't make any decisions about your future for the next seven days. This is a bad time for planning ahead.

You will spread smiles wherever you go this week. It's a lovely time to throw a party or invite friends over.

Money matters are on hold, but will get better soon.

CANCER
June 21-July 22

A recent money crunch will soon be over. The trick now is to stay in the clear.

Do-it-yourself projects are good ways to save cash.

You will be ruled this week by the romantic you that cherishes moonlight and music and loving. Surrender to the urge.

It's nice to have someone to turn to in times of doubt.

But don't neglect your own instincts, especially in matters of the heart.

Tipsy tourist tries to take a steam bath — inside a volcano!

Park rangers rescued a tourist who tumbled into a volcanic vent while trying to take a natural steam bath — stark naked!

By MARTHA ATKINS

Vacationing William Goldell, 28, and friends in the town of Volcano, Hawaii, had been partying the night away when they decided to sneak into the Steaming Bluffs area of Kilauea Volcano for a soothing bit of steam in the buff.

"Apparently, he had stripped down, walked into a steam cloud and stepped into nothing," said Ranger Jon Erickson of Hawaii Volcanoes National Parks.

The park's ranger station received an emergency call at 2 a.m. "The call came in that a naked guy had fallen down into one of the steam vents," said Ranger Jim Martin. "It was so funny we laughed till we cried."

The New York man fell about 20 feet before landing on a ledge. His friends tied towels together to try and pull him out but gave up after 30 minutes and called for help.

"His friends were laughing, too," said Ranger Martin. "It only took us about a half hour to get him out. It was pretty funny to see this guy all strapped into a safety harness and he's stark naked."

Except for the embarrassment of being caught with his pants down, Goldell was in pretty good shape after his ordeal. He was treated for cuts and bruises but fortunately the steam was not hot enough to burn him.

"People fall down the cracks fairly often because of the low-lying vegetation that covers them up," said Ranger Erickson, "but this is the first naked person we've saved."

At last, smokers — some GOOD news!

Good news, smokers! Puffing on cigarettes may not be as bad as you've been led to believe.

It turns out the statistics on lung cancer are wildly inaccurate because of death certificate mistakes, according to Canadian attorney Earl Cherniak of Montreal, Quebec. He cites a number of American studies that show the cause of death listed on a large proportion of death certificates turned out to be wrong once autopsies were performed.

Chernak, who is defending cigarette companies against a proposed ban on advertising, says many lung cancer deaths linked to smoking may actually have been caused by radon exposure or other factors.

Guided by ghost of doctor who died in 1907 . . .

Psychic surgeon cures sinus problems with a letter opener

By SUSAN JIMISON
Staff writer

Former carpenter Stephen Turoff can cure anyone of painful sinus problems — by shoving a giant letter opener up their nose!

The psychic healer goes into a trance, becomes possessed by the spirit of a dead doctor and under his guidance performs the bizarre treatment.

It really gets results, patients say. "He stuck the letter opener about five inches up my nose and I didn't feel a thing," said Carol McMillan, 41, an enthusiastic patient.

"He cured me of my sinus problems."

Turoff was working as a carpenter 17 years ago when he first became aware he had healing powers. He quit his job and began treating needy patients in his London neighborhood, charging those who could afford to pay a modest fee and treating others for free.

At first, Turoff treated only by touch, but in 1985 he began receiving psychic messages from Dr. Joseph Kahn of Germany who died early in 1907.

"I began to go into trances and made contact with Dr. Kahn," Turoff recalled. "Under his guidance my methods changed.

"Today, he gives treatment through me.

"Afterward, I have no recollection of anything."

Incredibly, despite the fact that Turoff has inserted a metal object deep into their nasal passages, the healer's clients show no signs of discomfort.

There's no blood and even though no anesthesia is used there's no pain.

"It's uncanny," said Turoff's wife, who acts as his assistant. "I've seen the blade of the letter opener go several inches into a person.

"But the patient feels nothing."

GHOST of Dr. Kahn, inset, guides Stephen Turoff's hand.

New ticker came with new set of lungs, so . . .

WHY WASTE a perfectly good heart, asked Derek Merrills, below, so he gave his used ticker to Wayne Hammond, above.

Transplant patient gives his old heart to a dying buddy

Critically ill Derek Merrills gave the gift of life to a young man dying in the next hospital bed — by offering him his old heart when he got a new one!

When surgeons gave Derek the heart and lungs taken from a dead donor, they immediately put Derek's discarded but healthy heart into the body of 25-year-old coronary disease victim Wayne Hammond.

Though Derek needed only to have his useless lungs replaced, his doctor believes that transplanting the donor's heart and lungs at the same time reduces the chance of organ rejection.

And when Derek learned he was getting a new heart, he made certain surgeons knew exactly what to do with his old heart.

"It's a perfectly good heart," he told them. "I don't want it wasted. I want it to go to that dying young man in the bed next to mine."

Surgeons in Papworth Hospital in Cambridge, England, carried out the twin transplants without a hitch, and a few days later Wayne found out the identity of his lifesaving benefactor.

"The hospital is very secretive about the identities of donors," Wayne said. "I had assumed that my donor was dead. But I learned the identity when a nurse hinted that it was the patient in the bed next to mine.

"I went up to Derek and said, 'Hello. I believe I've got your heart.' Then it got very emotional. We hugged each other right there.

"I knew I was dying . . . that my time was ticking away. I can never thank Derek enough."

Though the two men had never met before fate brought them together in the same hospital room, Derek and Wayne have since become bosom buddies.

"We're bonded together for life," Derek explained. "Our feelings run much deeper than even two brothers."

The first land animals on Earth may have breathed through their ears!

That's the conclusion of scientists who studied the fossil remains of a 360-million-year-old lizard and found that its eardrums contained breathing rods that enabled it to survive on land.

The fossils were found in Greenland in 1987 but weren't totally understood until now, said Jennifer Clack of Cambridge University in England.

Scientists had thought that the first land animals with backbones had a normal eardrum.

BOMBER-ON-THE-MOON MYSTERY SOLVED!

INCREDIBLE photo made by a Soviet satellite in 1988 clearly shows an American World War 2 bomber resting in a huge crater on the moon.

Soviet pilot's bizarre experience 42 years ago adds the missing piece to the puzzle!

PETER GURENKOV

By YURI IVANOV
In Moscow

Former fighter pilot Peter Gurenkov is convinced an American bomber found on the moon was dumped there by space aliens — because the same aliens once tried to hijack him!

The retired Russian pilot says a silver, cigar-shaped UFO tried to swallow up his plane over the Bering Sea 42 years ago.

And his hair-raising tale provides a fascinating solution to the bizarre bomber-on-the-moon mystery first reported by The NEWS in April 1988.

"We have satellite photos clearly showing a World War 2 American bomber resting in a lunar crater, and for two years we have been investigating to determine how such a thing is possible," said Soviet scientist Stanislav Makeyev.

"Pilot Gurenkov's story seems quite credible and supports the premise of those on our task force who believe that extraterrestrials stole the plane and deposited it on the moon."

The pilot's spine-chilling adventure took place in the summer of 1948 as he flew a training mission off the Siberian coast.

"It was a very routine flight until suddenly a glimmering, tubular-shaped craft like nothing I'd ever seen before appeared from out of nowhere on my starboard side," recalled Gurenkov, 63.

"The thing was at least 500 meters long and made of a shiny, metallic material so bright it was difficult to look directly at it. The air had been very calm, but suddenly I was buffeted by such turbulence that I was barely able to control my plane.

"Then all at once two huge doors — like cargo doors — opened wide and I felt the plane being sucked sideways toward the UFO.

"I could see figures moving around in the glow coming from inside the craft, and I could feel them peering at me.

"I tried to pull away but I was totally helpless, like the plane was being sucked up by a giant vacuum cleaner. There was no doubt in my mind that my plane and I were going to be drawn into that thing and abducted."

But suddenly, the sinister spaceship emitted a wailing sound so loud the terrified pilot could hear it above the roar of his own engines.

Seconds later, the huge doors snapped shut and the UFO shot out of sight, releasing its grip on the Soviet fighter plane.

"It was as though an alarm or a call for help went off and the creatures aboard the ship suddenly lost interest in me," Gurenkov told the panel.

"The thing went straight up and was gone before I could blink my eyes."

The shaken airman returned to base but never told anyone of his eerie encounter because he feared it would jeopardize his military career and his dream of becoming a commercial pilot.

But when he read about the recently, Gurenkov — who flew commercially for 32 years before retiring in 1985 — decided he should tell someone his amazing secret.

"I was still reluctant, but my wife Olga said, 'Go ahead and get it off your chest. No one can hurt you now,'" said the good-natured grandfather.

And Dr. Makeyev believes Gurenkov's story may have helped solve one of history's most mind-boggling mysteries.

"Now that we know extraterrestrials had both an interest in abducting the Earth's warplanes and the capability of doing it, we may have answered a number of questions about other missing planes," the scientist said.

You can get hooked on steroids, jocks warned

The anabolic steroids that bodybuilders use to pump up their muscles can be as addictive as cocaine, a leading expert reports.

"The nature of this class of chemicals is that it changes mood and when there is a sudden drop in the level people can get symptoms of withdrawal," said Dr. Kenneth Kashkin, chiatry at Yale University School of Medicine in New Haven, Conn.

"When levels in the body are high people can become euphoric, happy, talkative and have a sense of well-being," he continued.

"When levels drop there can be symptoms of acute withdrawal, including anxiety, irritability, insomnia, hot and cold flashes and muscle aches.

"There would be every reason to suspect they crave the steroid much the way cocaine

VANCE Helms and Frances Upchurch say "I do" before Judge Robert Smith.

Bride throws a surprise wedding — for the groom!

Unsuspecting Vance Helms didn't realize when he dropped by his girlfriend's office that he was walking into a wedding — his.

He had been lured there on the pretext of a party, but Frances Upchurch had marriage on her mind and a judge standing by to tie the knot.

"It's time," said Frances, 45, as Vance walked into her office.

"Time for what?" asked Vance.

"Let's get married," she replied.

The hopeful bride-to-be held her breath a few frantic seconds as Vance backed out of the office and closed the door behind him.

"I thought, 'Oh my God, I'll die if he doesn't want to marry me,' " Frances told The NEWS from her office in Richmond, Va. Fortunately, Vance returned to the office about 15 seconds later and Judge Robert J. Smith made them man and wife.

It was the second time around for the couple who dated as kids, married other people and went their separate ways for 22 years.

They renewed old acquaintances at the 25th reunion of their high school class a year ago and decided to see more of each other.

Co-worker Alisa Malkman played cupid and helped Frances set up the surprise wedding.

"When I saw the judge in those black robes, I realized this was the real thing," said Vance.

"I was surprised. She nailed me good."
